Bach Homes Flourishes in SummerGrove and Avery Park

Summer temperatures are not the only things hot in Coweta County. Bach Homes is sizzling at SummerGrove and Avery, which are both developed by Pathway Communities.

Since 2003, Bach Homes has built over 100 homes in Avery Park and SummerGrove and a key ingredient to the company's success is its focus on customer service.

"We are more than a homebuilder," said Bruce Bachtel, owner/builder of Bach Homes. "We build dreams by exceeding expectations.

Bachtel also believes that building in SummerGrove and Avery Park provides additional benefits to homebuyers. "Building in two landmark communities like SummerGrove and Avery Park gives our homebuyers access to amenities and social activities that are important assets in today's community landscape."

Bach Homes offers something for everyone in just about every price range and style. In Avery Park, Bach Homes offers architectural-pleasing designs that are a perfect compliment to community's intimate, small-town charm. Homes feature stone accents, granite countertops, upscale tile and stainless steel appliances.

At SummerGrove, Bach Homes offers luxurious tri-level townhomes, craftsman style single-family homes and custom homes bordering Lake SummerGrove and the award-winning golf course.

Peggy Sullivan, president of Pathway Communities believes that Bach Homes has tailored its homestyles to perfectly fit each community. "Bach Homes understands the importance of creating a home with personality that gives homebuyers a sense of belonging, in a community they can call home."

Homes are selling at a fast pace SummerGrove and Avery Park and Sullivan credits the diversified price range and product mix, great amenity packages and enviable location of each community.
